This Implementation Plan will help you recognize children’s current developmental stage in the social and emotional domain of anger and impulse control and develop a lesson/or lessons that support development in one of the four areas of anger and impulse control. It is important to try out the things you have learned in the training so you can really understand them. The trainer will read this Implementation Plan and give you some more ideas for ways that you can do even better in the future.

The Core Competency this Implementation Plan addresses is: Provide a warm, caring, and responsive environment where children initiate and extend their learning through play.

DIRECTIONS:

1. Observe the children in your classroom. Identify the ways they interact with one another, you, and other adults in the classroom.
2. Reflect on: a) what works in these interactions and b) what is problematic?
3. After you have identified what is working, identify what is not working and list it.
4. Choose two strategy ideas discussed in the training that would assist you in teaching the rules and rituals you want in your classroom (refer to your notes to identify a strategy).
5. Using the two strategy ideas you chose, develop any materials you will need to implement those strategies.
6. Implement the first strategy in Week One.
7. Take video or photographic examples of your implementation of the strategy.
8. Implement the second strategy in Week Two.
9. Take video or photographic examples of your implementation of the strategy.

Teacher's Explanation of Activity:
Explaining what was done

It is important for the trainer to understand exactly what you did. This will help the trainer give you some ideas to do an even better job next time.

1. What lead you to choose the strategies you chose?
2. Did you have to prepare any materials?
3. Did you face difficulties implementing strategy one? If so, what were the difficulties? If not, what made it easy?
4. Did you face difficulties implementing strategy two? If so, what were the difficulties? If not, what made it easy?
